*Message of the PresidentHERBERT D. ALLMAN

TO THE
THIRTIETH ANNUAL MEETING
OF
THE NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL

OCTOBER 9, 1927

President Coolidge, a few weeks ago, when dedicating the Lincoln Memorial Library at South Dakota State College, urged all educational institutions to give emphasis to spiritual development, saying, "Our colleges will fail in their duties to their students, unless they are able to inspire them with a broader understanding of the spiritual meaning of science, of literature, and of the arts."

The National Farm School particularly welcomes and concurs in this timely message and admonition from this statesman and earnest thinker. With the spiritual heritage handed down to it by its eminent and revered religious leader, Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, our School endeavors to stress alongside the practical training of its students the value and importance of character building, moral fibre and spirituality.

Today, The National Farm School celebrates the thirtieth year of its existence as a successful institution, founded, planned and presided over for many years by that great Rabbi and teacher. The growth and history of this School from its humble beginning—the struggles and efforts of its altruistic pioneers who surmounted opposition and discouragement—seem hardly possible on this day, thirty years later, in the light of what we now visualize. Here we see a well-organized and efficient agricultural school—nationally known and endorsed by prominent leaders—a beautiful campus, modern buildings, extensive fields, and enlarged student body and an augmented Faculty. These evidences speak eloquently for the excellent foundation laid and for the need of our kind of educational service.

In these years, since the founding of the School, many new pages have been written in the history of the world. Agriculture has not been immune to the changing conditions. We have had to remould many of our former established concepts and ideas, with the purpose of encouraging green blades of grass to again lift their heads from abandoned fields.

The development of farm machinery and its application, more scientific methods of increasing farm efficiency, the steady growth of urban industry, the restlessness of human-kind to exploit new and untried fields of endeavor play an important part in the shifting picture of the persistent drift from country to city.

Nationally, our cause has been greatly assisted by the utterances of President Coolidge, who has urged the importance of agriculture and soil study as a fundamental national asset. He is quoted as saying that the greatness of the United States rests on the farm; that all mankind is dependent on the soil; that further increases in production must come from increased acre yields, instead of from increased acreage; that long after our mines become unproductive the land must continue to sustain the growing population of the world.

In tracing Government activity in relation to agriculture, the President pointed out that the personnel connected with State and Federal work constitutes the largest organized body of agricultural research workers in the world.

Statistics taken from a prominent agricultural institute in Chicago show that the downward tendency in farm land values since 1921 throughout the United States, is much less pronounced—that a period of stability is at hand because of three major facts: Prices and net farm incomes were increasing; foreclosures and other forced liquidations were decreasing; reduction in mortgage rates, as well as the general farm credit situation, were improving.

At a meeting of prominent bankers in New York City on July 26th, under the auspices of your School, United States Acting Secretary of Agriculture Dunlap made an interesting forecast of the national agricultural situation. He said in part that while last year was one of some disappointment, this year is one of improvement; that while the South had to contend with a bad slump in cotton prices last year, they are now forging strongly ahead; that the same improving conditions apply to corn, wheat, potatoes, cattle and dairying; that the economic ills which beset agriculture in comparison with other industries are showing a gradual betterment. We quote him: "I am thoroughly optimistic for the coming years in agriculture. This is the opportunity of a lifetime to buy land. I advise young men to prepare for farming now, because a few years hence will find us talking of a genuinely flourishing, efficient and profitable condition."

Only yesterday, Mr. B. C. Forbes, an outstanding economist, broadcast good news in the press regarding farm conditions, giving no less an authority for his statements than Mr. Eugene Meyer, Commissioner of the Federal Farm Board, who recently made a tour of investigation throughout the Northwest, the Pacific Coast, the Middle West and particularly the corn-belt.

The substance of Mr. Meyer's opinions agrees with those just quoted by me. A few of them were: "The bottom of the decline in farm lands has been reached. Neighborhood buying of farm land has already set in." He is convinced that "this is the time to purchase farm land. It is now a good time for young men who want to start in farming to take advantage of conditions before prices rise materially. Nebraska alone will get at least $150,000,000 more for her corn, wheat and livestock than last year. Livestock prices throughout the country are improving."

A prosperous and happy national life is dependent upon a contented rural population. This School is contributing directly to the stabilization of American agriculture, admittedly a national problem; is also in a measure helping to relieve the congestion of overcrowded cities, always a menace to good health, and serious to the needy in time of industrial depression. Certainly the farmer, whether employed or the tiller of his own land, is largely independent of such city conditions.

The potentialities for a happy and permanent rural life are a love of the soil and the ability to make it yield its best results.

When selecting the Freshmen students, we endeavor to study their mental and physical caliber. We point out on the one hand the tedious hours of service; on the other, the ultimate reward in health, happiness and independence. While we aim to train them to become successful, we endeavor, during the impressionable and formative period of their ideals, to emphasize the importance of having a purpose in life.

We urge them to search their motives, and when convinced that they want to give their time, energy and thought to agriculture, they should then dedicate themselves to whole-hearted service, rather than to definite monetary gain. We do not discount the laudable attempt to make money, but we do discourage those who think to enter this vocation as a vehicle of money-making alone.

Therefore, by careful selection of the proper personnel, plus instruction in the science, as applied to agricultural operations and sound practices of marketing, we can greatly help them to obtain a reasonable return from their labor and investment, thus encouraging them to remain on the land.

Our School differs from other agricultural institutions, because we seek preferably city-bred boys, whereas the land grant colleges and agricultural schools recruit most of their students from the farm. Farm boys know how to mow, plow and to hitch up a horse when they enter college, while the city boy is untrained and does not know one implement from another. In a three-year course at The National Farm School he is taught both the science and mechanics of farming.

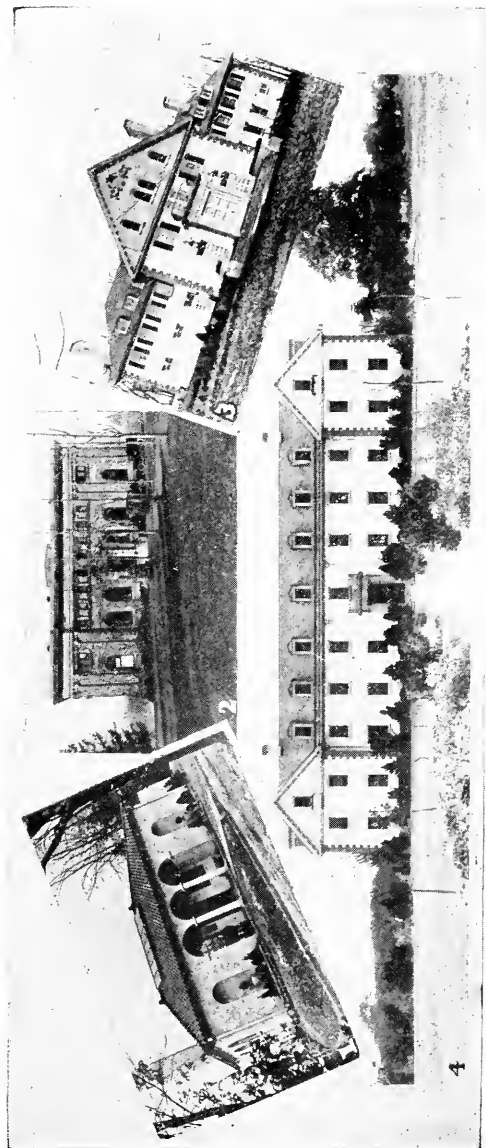

A school like The National Farm School cannot appeal to the emotions or to the spectacular. It is an earnest piece of constructive work—done day in and day out. Its results cannot be put on exhibition as can the results of a workshop. It is invisible, yet potential. We believe that every boy who has gone out from our School has a broader vision and is a better American citizen than he would have been without this contact and work on the soil.

It is the contention of Mr. Herbert Hoover, the economist, that within a few years unique institutions like ours will be in great demand, for the social adjustment that this country will need. We are unique, because we train our young men not only on the fields, but in the laboratory and school room as well, and take this opportunity of calling the attention of industrialists and thinkers to our endeavor, in the hope of securing their co-operation and support.

During the past few years, Mr. Abraham Erlanger, of New York, has been the inspiration and head of a constructive movement to raise large funds for a Greater National Farm School. We regret to say, that through overzealousness to the cause, this friend and benefactor has been compelled to withdraw from the active leadership of The National Expansion Project, toward which he has given unstintingly of his time, effort and means. After such strenuous work he has more than earned a needed rest, and though now not active, his heart, if not his hand, is as enthusiastic in the work as ever. "He hopes his friends will carry on" is the message he sends us today.

THE JOSEPH KRAUSKOPF MEMORIAL LIBRARY

We are more than grateful to tell his many friends and admirers of his gradual recovery, and offer our hopes and prayers for a complete restoration to good health, including many years of peace and happiness. We are, indeed, greatly indebted to this noble altruist for his helpful support and guidance, and grateful for the privilege and pleasure of personally knowing and working with him.

The School feels that it may congratulate itself in having secured the services of Prof. C. L. Goodling, M. A., Pennsylvania State College, as its new Dean and Director. He comes most highly recommended by prominent educators throughout the State, where he has been prominently known as one of the most able farm managers in the country, having occupied such position with the Pennsylvania State College for over twenty years. The two thousand acres of that institution which he successfully farmed not only produced record crops, but a heavy financial income as well. He was one of the most popular men on the Penn State campus. Though occupying his new position with us less than a year, his personality, training and leadership have already made a remarkable impress at the institution.

County organizations and other agricultural societies have held meetings on our School grounds, which have been of mutual benefit. We particularly welcome not only these agricultural bodies, but also the individual farmers from our neighboring communities. We ask them to feel free to come to Prof. Goodling for advice and suggestion. This also applies to the use of our Library, not only intended for our School, but for our friends and neighbors, who are invited to make free use of it. Its shelves are stocked with books on many subjects, excellent for reading and reference.

Our recreational facilities are many and varied. The social and athletic life has been augmented by a complete equipment of its gymnasium, the gift of Mr. Sidney Erlanger, of New York. A modern athletic field, now being built across the Campus, is a donation of the Alumni Association, made at their Annual Meeting, held on the School grounds on July 4th. Our baseball and basketball teams have continued to make excellent records, and an almost invincible football team has added new glories to the School colors.

You may be interested to hear that your School was honored with the award of two medals—a gold one for encouragement of agricultural education and a bronze medal and diploma for our pastoral exhibit at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

The Women's Auxiliary Committee, reorganized under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph Krauskopf, is performing valuable service. Our Executive Board has been strengthened by the election of three of their number as members of the Board of Trustees.

We are pleased to learn that the names of prominent young men will be offered today for election as Trustees. This infusion of young blood should add new stimulus to our endeavor. The older men who have been on the Board since its inception thirty years ago have earned their retirement, but will continue to stand by and advise out of the wealth of their experience and service.

We are indebted to the men and women of all sections of the country who, by their support and commendation, have given our cause new impetus during the past twelve months. We are especially grateful to the State of Pennsylvania for increasing our appropriation; to the Federation of Jewish Charities for its annual appropriation; to the Baron de Hirsch Fund for continued financial assistance and wise counsel. We have been greatly encouraged by a most generous appropriation of $10,000 from the newly formed Federation of Jewish Charities of Atlantic City. Many other Federated Charities and organizations throughout the land, in addition to financial and fabricated contributions, have assisted in the selection of our students coming from distant points. We also acknowledge the outstanding service of the Jewish Hospital and the Community Health Center of Philadelphia, who give annual physical examinations to our entire student body.

To the men and women of our Board, our efficient Committees, worthy Faculty and to all who have helped to make possible our progress, we gratefully tender this expression of heartfelt appreciation and thanks.

With this summary of our stewardship, including an appreciation of your past generosity, we hope to merit not only your continued approval and support, but to rally many new friends to the cause, to the end that your School may greatly expand its capacity and leadership in its plan to train city boys as agriculturists.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL GRADUATIONFebruary 20, 1927

The Twenty-seventh Annual Commencement Exercises were held in the Krauskopf Memorial Library, on the grounds of The National Farm School, on Sunday afternoon, February 20, 1927, when the twenty-eight members of the Senior Class were awarded the School's diploma for the satisfactory completion of the three years' course.

Congressman Sol. Bloom, of New York, who delivered the Graduation Address, commended the purposes of the School, "which turns out trained agriculturists, thoroughly proficient in their profession and able to combat the difficulties which the McNary-Haughen Bill seeks to eliminate by Government legislation."

The Salutatory was delivered by Ira A. Wechsler, of Boston, Mass. Jack Rosenthal, of Philadelphia, delivered the Valedictory. "The Presentation of the Hoe," a symbolic custom of the School, was made by Samuel Price, of Brooklyn, N. Y., President of the Graduating Class, to Joseph Lynch, President of the incoming Senior Class.

Dr. Bernhard Ostrolenk, Director of the School, presented the diplomas and awarded prizes.

A unique part of the exercises was the awarding of the posthumous diploma to the parents of Raymond Lev, of Cleveland, Ohio, in whose memory the Senior Class recently erected a small monument on the School grounds.

Invocation and benediction were offered by Dr. Wiley R. Deal, of Doylestown.

The exercises were presided over by Mr. Herbert D. Allman, President of the School.

THE NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL ACKNOWLEDGES AN OUTSTANDING GIFT

It is with sincere gratitude and appreciation that we inform our friends and patrons of a magnificent benefaction made to The National Farm School by Mr. J. Bunford Samuel, of Philadelphia. This consists of a gift of a valuable piece of property, located at Sea Girt, N. J., which Mr. Samuel has deeded outright to the School. The property comprises nine parcels of farm and timber land, a modern grist mill and valuable water power on the premises. Under the terms of the conveyance, Mr. Samuel will act as agent for the School in the management of the entire property and will pay all taxes and other necessary charges.

In accepting this outstanding benefaction, the Board of Trustees desire publicly to voice their sense of deep gratitude to Mr. Samuel, whose life-long interest in The National Farm School has been a source of continued encouragement and inspiration in the work.

FOUNDER'S DAY AND THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES

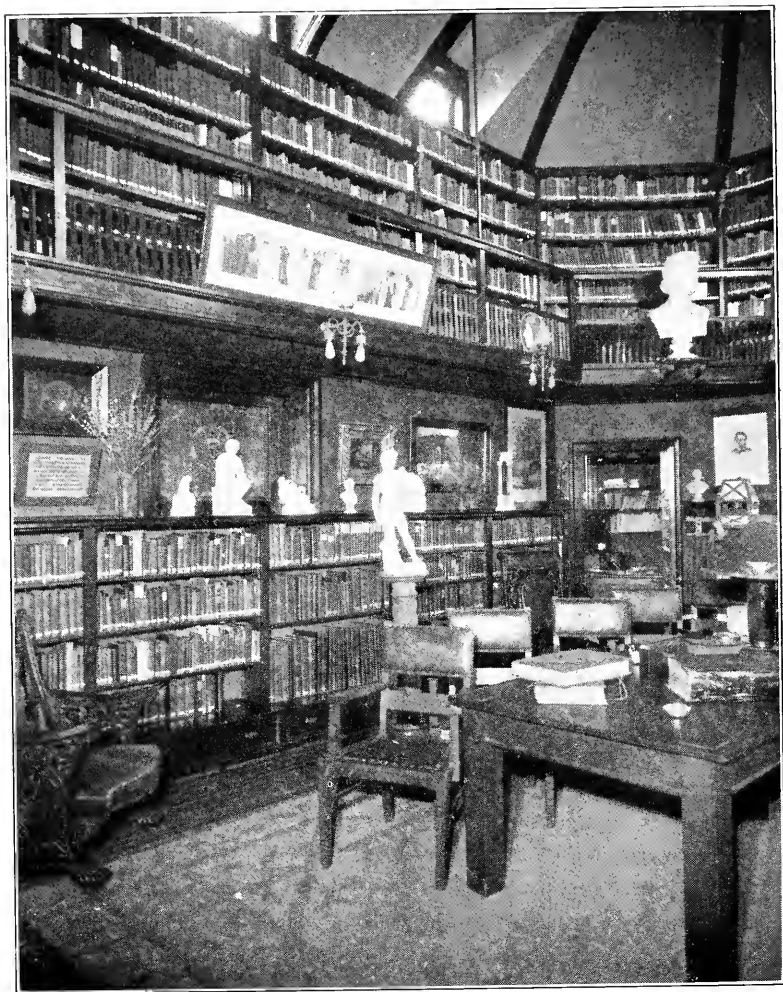

Sunday, June 5, 1927

The Thirtieth Anniversary of The National Farm School was celebrated as a part of the Fourth Annual Founder's Day Exercises, which took place on the School grounds, on Sunday, June 5, 1927.

The exercises were held out-of-doors in a beautiful grove of trees on the School campus, and followed gatherings of several important delegations of bankers and financial groups which met at the School during the several days immediately preceding. These groups, headed by Mr. Lewis L. Clarke, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Exchange Irving Trust Company of New York, pledged support to the movement for "A Greater National Farm School." Approval of the work being done by the School to better agricultural conditions, was voiced in a letter to these gatherings from W. R. Dunlap, Acting Secretary of Agriculture of the United States.

The program of the Thirtieth Anniversary Exercises included an introductory by Mr. Herbert D. Allman, President of the School, who extended greetings and welcome to the large gathering of friends from many parts of the country, who were the guests of the School. He paid a tribute to the founder, Rev. Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, whose memory this Annual Founder's Day serves to honor, and particularly this year when the School points with pride to its completion of thirty years of successful endeavor. He also paid a tribute to that outstanding patron and benefactor of the School, Mr. Abraham Erlanger, who was detained in New York because of indisposition.

Hon. Franklin Spencer Edmonds, of Philadelphia, was Presiding Officer, and presented the speakers, who were Dr. T. B. Symons, Director of Extension Service of the University of Maryland; Hon. Horace W. Schantz, President Pro Tem of the Senate of Pennsylvania; Mr. Druard N. Allman, of Philadelphia, who delivered the address of dedication for the planting of trees in the names of friends of the institution, both for occasions of joy and in memory of those who have passed on. The newly-elected Dean of the institution, Prof. C. L. Goodling, was formally presented to the supporters of the School at these exercises and outlined briefly some of his plans.

Two portraits of the founder, one the gift of his widow, Mrs. Jos. Krauskopf, and the other the gift of Mr. Herbert D. Allman, were presented to the School, as was also a portrait of Mr. Abraham Erlanger, the gift of Mr. Lewis L. Clarke, of New York. Miss Harriet Sartain, Dean of the Philadelphia School of Design for Women, made the presentation address on behalf of the donors.

The afternoon was given over to an organized tour of inspection by automobiles and motor busses over the 1,200 acres of the School grounds, conducted by members of the Faculty, who explained the departmental work. This proved a delightful and most worth-while innovation, and afforded the interested guests an opportunity for a more intimate acquaintance with the School's plant, and the kind of intensified agricultural education which students of The National Farm School receive.

It was the consensus of opinion of the speakers and the large and interested gathering that leadership is a great need in rural America today, and The National Farm School, with its unique type of vocational agricultural training, is turning out such leaders.

THIRTIETH ANNUAL MEETING AND HARVEST FESTIVAL

Sunday, October 9, 1927

Despite unusually inclement weather a goodly number of friends of the School, including prominent business men and agricultural leaders from neighboring States, attended the Thirtieth Annual Meeting and Harvest Festival of The National Farm School, on Sunday, October 9, 1927.

The Exercises were held in the reception room of the Morris Lasker Hall, and were opened with an invocation by Rabbi Julian B. Feibelman, of Philadelphia. Mr. Joseph H. Hagedorn, acted as Chairman of the meeting. Hon. Chas. G. Jordan, Secretary of Agriculture of the State of Pennsylvania in a very eloquent talk, addressed himself particularly to the student body and told them of some of the many advantages which agriculture holds out to the young man who has fitted himself for that calling through a training such as The National Farm School offers. Greetings from New Jersey were brought by Hon. Wm. B. Duryee, Secretary of Agriculture of that State, who said that he feels The National Farm School belongs to every State in the Union and that it is filling a need that no other school can fill. He prophesied that we are today on the threshold of a great change in the status of agriculture, and the fact that this School in taking city boys and training them to become farmers is a distinct advantage, for such boys are not handicapped as perhaps is the farmer's son, by the traditions of the past.

President Herbert D. Allman, who delivered his Annual Message (published in full on pages 5 to 10), reviewed the accomplishments of the School during the year, and the great forward strides it is making as a practical educational institution.

The Report of the Dean, C. L. Goodling, further emphasized the continued progress of the School and the hearty co-operation given him by the officers and Board of Trustees, Faculty and student body, which made possible the year's splendid record.

Interesting five-minute talks were given by the following members of the Senior Class on subjects in which they are specializing: Jos. Lynch, Gloucester, N. J., on General Agriculture; Raymond Greenbaum, Norma, N. J., on Horticulture; Benjamin Graffman, Philadelphia, on Landscape Gardening.

Through the generosity of friends of the School sixty prizes were awarded for meritorious work.

At the close of the speaking program, the following officers and members of the Board were re-elected: Harry B. Hirsh, Chairman of the Board; Herbert D. Allman, President; Joseph H. Hagedorn, Vice-President; Isaac H. Silverman, Treasurer; Louis A. Hirsh, Mrs. Joseph Krauskopf and James Work as Trustees for a three-year term. Morris Fleishman, Joseph H. Hinlein and Dr. Bernard Kohn were elected Honorary Trustees, having served on the Board for ten consecutive years.

The following new members were elected to the Board of Trustees: Druard N. Allman, H. Richard Hano, Stanley H. Hinlein, Roy M. Livingstone, Edwin H. Silverman and William Stix Wasserman.

“Thirty years of well-directed effort and gradual expansion have proved the Rev. Dr. Krauskopf’s wise vision in establishing this farm school for the scientific training of city-bred boys in all branches of agriculture. All who have studied the problems relating to the cultivation of the soil agree that the future prosperity of the United States is bound up with improvements in farming. Productivity must be increased if the present standards of living are to be maintained while population grows at its natural ratio. This can only be achieved by adopting all the knowledge that science places at the service of the farmer, and the cutting loose from tradition in a great basic industry which is proverbially conservative.

“The National Farm School, where over 180 young farmers are now learning to grow the staple crops, vegetables and fruit, has grown into an institution for agricultural improvement, the value of which is attested by the Federal and State governments.” —From an editorial in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, October 11, 1927.

REPORT OF THE DEAN

C. L. Goodling

To the Thirtieth Annual Meeting, October 9, 1927.

Having assumed my duties as Dean of The National Farm School in April of this year, my problem has been largely that of getting acquainted with conditions. As there is no other school which functions on the same basis as The National Farm School, we cannot profit by the experience of others. Hence, any proposed changes in administration must be carefully considered, if costly mistakes are to be avoided. Being a unique school without precedents, such changes must be more or less experimental and inaugurated slowly. We are, in a true sense of the word, pioneers in this type of agricultural education.

Curriculum

A radical change in the curriculum was introduced this Fall. After a careful study of the old system, we found that the plan of the boys working half a day, attending classes half a day and then attempting to prepare assignments in the evening was impractical. The students are, first of all, natural boys; and any curriculum must take this as the starting point. The Faculty believes that the new curriculum meets this serious defect in a fair manner.

Briefly outlined, the new scheme is as follows: The year is divided into four terms, and the terms are then subdivided into two equal parts. The student will spend one part of each term in class doing scholastic work, and the other part in the field doing practical work. While attending classes, his sole duty shall be to give his undivided attention to his theoretical studies. With me, the Faculty believes that this system will promote better scholastic work and graduate better trained students. Similarly, the alternating six-weeks' period of continuous practical work will enable a student to learn, and learn thoroughly, the work of the department to which he is assigned. A student, before he leaves the School, must be properly trained in the use of farm machinery, must be able to set out an orchard properly, and know how to plant a garden or care for flowers at different seasons of the year. He must have passed through all the departments, and learned the "spade work" of each. Any curriculum, or any system, which does not provide a happy balance between the theoretical and the practical, is doomed to fail. Furthermore, it would not be fulfilling the purpose for which this School was established—namely, to train boys for scientific and practical agriculture.

Student Body

The present student body consists of 166, an increase of 24 over last year at the same date. It is divided into 37 seniors, 65 juniors and 64 freshmen. Twenty-seven seniors were graduated last February, and all of them were placed in agricultural positions before leaving the School.

One of the gratifying features of the present freshmen class is the unusually low percentage of its members who, for one reason or another, have left the School. During the first seven months of the 1926 School term, 52 students left; during the same period this year, only 22; this, despite the fact that the present student body is 16 per cent. larger than that of last year. It is our desire to make the work so attractive that this loss will be reduced to a minimum. We realize, however, that it will be impossible to eliminate it altogether. The low deflection this year is undoubtedly due to the untiring efforts of our worthy President, Mr. Herbert D. Allman, in personally selecting the freshmen class.

Library

It is a source of great satisfaction to note that the students are making greater use of the Library than ever before. Of the 6,473 volumes on the shelves, more than 3,600 were in circulation during the year. Approximately 800 new volumes were added, which, of course, do not include the Government publications and like material constantly being received.

Household

The students' rooms, thanks to the generosity of the Women's Board, have been made more attractive by the addition of curtains and bed spreads. Similarly, the dining-room has profited by their thoughtfulness. The linoleum covered tables make for quieter meals and a neater dining-hall.

Farm Work

Let us look now at the agricultural side. Without a doubt, the first consideration of a school is the theoretical training. But, owing to the fact that most of our students come from the city, the practical side of our work cannot be overemphasized. With the increasing use of labor-saving machinery, the practice work in farming is becoming more and more important. It is with this thought in mind that we are planning to provide more instruction in the fields, which will mean the abandoning of our present system of student supervision in the senior year. In the future, such supervision will be given by practical farm men.

My twenty years' experience has taught me that to interest a boy in farming he must continually be shown something new and above the average. And this point should be emphasized—that every boy who leaves the School must be above the average in agricultural methods. With this in mind, the farming of our twelve hundred acres should be improved, which, I believe, can be done within a few years. Our first aim must be at maximum production; and the boy must be taught this all through his course. Experimental work tending to this end is under contemplation. In fact, one rather extensive fertilizer experiment has already been outlined and will be started in the Spring.

Financial Statement

Despite rather low prices and adverse weather conditions, the income from sales for the present year amounted to $18,727.24 in cash and $11,836.74 for foodstuffs transferred to the Domestic Department. This makes a total of $30,563.98, which does not include $5,497.83 received from the sale of cattle.

Dairy

The department in the best position to add to the cash sales is the dairy. The average herd production for the year was 8,141 pounds of milk per cow, which is 1,500 pounds more than the average for the preceding year. The total sales from dairy products amounted to $14,793. Arrangements have been made this year for the further improvement of the dairy herd by adding pure bred stock and disposing of some of the poorer animals. We will not be satisfied until we secure the highest quality of milk, coupled with maximum production.

Horticultural Department

In spite of the rainy season, the Horticultural Department has had a good yield of fruits and vegetables on its fifty-five acres of cultivated land and orchards. The total sales amounted to $5,121.91. During the year new orchards were set out and other improvements made which will increase the efficiency of the department. With its separate building and personnel, this department is probably better equipped for work than any other.

Landscape Department

The Landscape Department has made great strides forward this year. Its plants alone are now worth several thousand dollars. It is also to this department that credit must be given for the care and arrangement of our beautiful grounds and campus.

Poultry Department

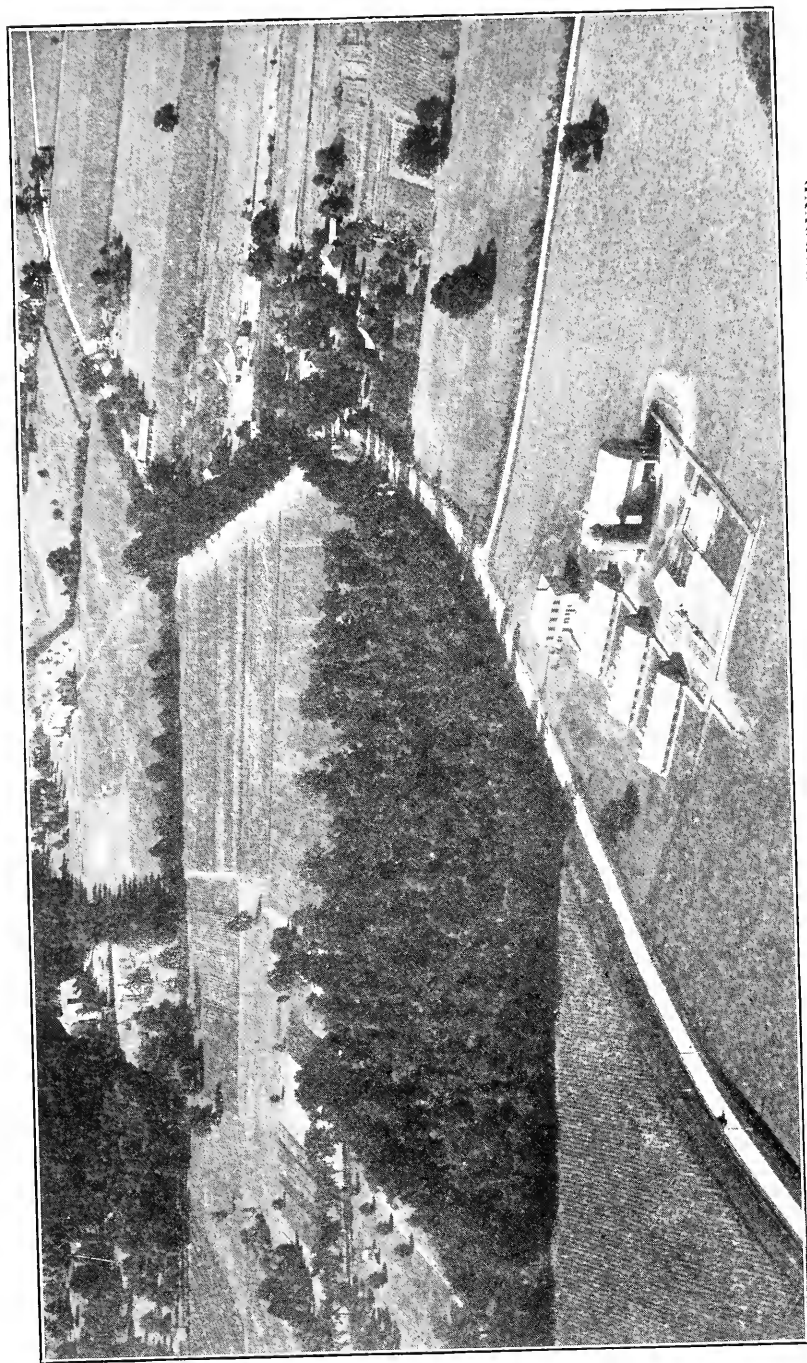

The Poultry Department has grown rapidly and the past year has shown good results. The total sales amounted to $5,827.00. There were hatched during the year 5,400 chicks. The yearly egg production was 177,875 eggs, making an average production of 40.6 per cent., or 148 eggs per bird. This is a good average production, but we are planning to improve upon it by securing higher laying strains.

Farm Department

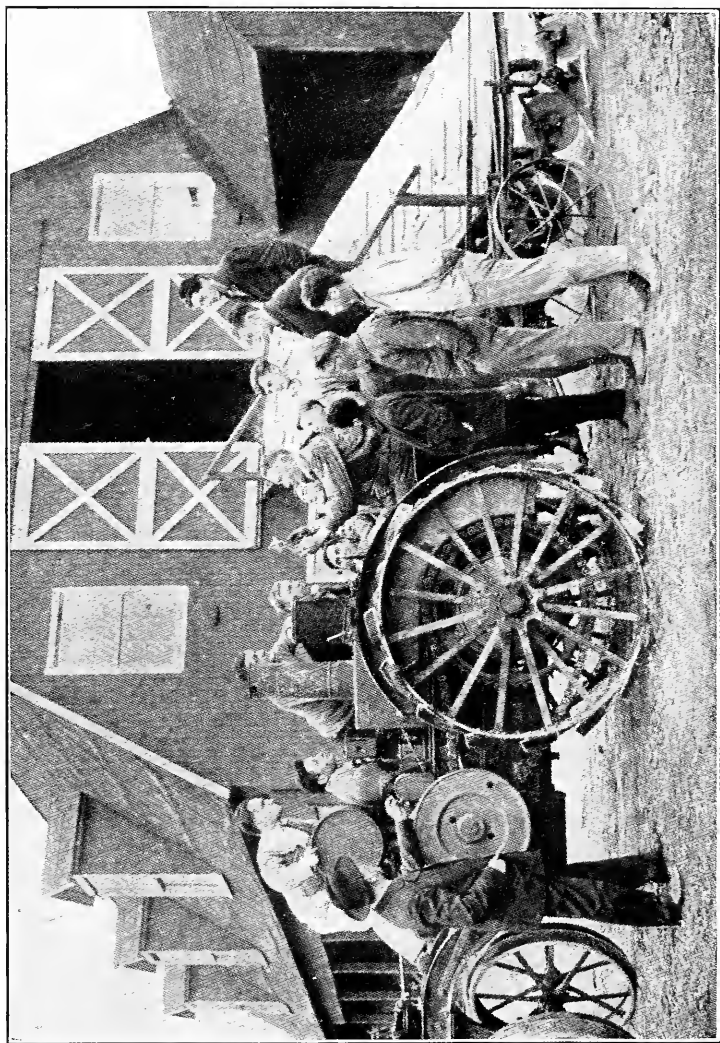

On account of adverse weather conditions the crops did not yield as high as usual during the last year. With favorable weather conditions and a rearrangement of our cropping system we hope to do better next year. One hundred and forty acres of wheat were sown this fall, in comparison with sixty last year. In the spring we hope to plant 20 acres of potatoes, compared with six acres this year.

In closing I want to call your attention to the fine spirit among the students, their eagerness to learn and their willingness to co-operate in any plans for the betterment of the School.

I also want publicly to thank our Faculty for their wholehearted support and co-operation. I can assure you that it makes me feel that our work at The National Farm School is bound to succeed.

FLOWER AND FRUIT FUND

Extract from the Last Will and Message of
Dr. Krauskopf

"All moneys and investments remaining after the death of my wife, I desire turned over to the Board of Directors of The National Farm School, to be set aside by them as a special fund to be known as 'The Flower and Fruit Fund,' the interest of which is to be devoted to the distribution of flowers and fruits to the needy sick, irrespective of race, creed and color. . . .

"I sincerely hope that this fund may become the nucleus of a much larger one, that to it may be devoted sums, which at the present time are invested in floral tributes on coffins and graves where they are of no benefit to the dead, and the living would be more lastingly comforted. The bereaved, I feel sure, will appreciate the affections and sentiment far better when learning of the contributions made to the Flower and Fruit Fund by friendly sympathizers, in commemoration of the dear departed.

"I trust that the Flower and Fruit Fund may some day become large enough to make possible the purchase of additional land by the Farm School, and setting such land aside for the special benefit of the debilitated poor, for a week's or fortnight's recreation by them during the summer, or by working said land by such of those who may have a chance to restore their lost health by outdoor work."

Friends of the School have inaugurated this Fund by contributions in memory of their departed and in honor of anniversaries and other joyous occasions. A start has been made in this way, and the fund is already operative in the distribution of flowers and fruits to the sick.

It is hoped that more and more people will take advantage of this mode of commemoration, so that the wish of the Founder in establishing this fund, may be fully realized.

EDISON says:

“Electricity will Sweep and Dust, Wash and Dry
Dishes, Wash and Iron, Cook and Sew”

The use of electric labor-savers in the home takes the work out of housework—relieves the housewife of the monotony and drudgery of the ever-recurring daily routine—helps to solve the servant problem—and does all this in the most efficient and economical manner possible.

Unless you have an electric cleaner, washer and iron in your home, your housework is a much greater burden than necessary. Invest in these three labor-savers first of all and then add the rest as your particular household requirements demand.

Noted Scientists Approve of Gas Lighting

Scientific experiments by noted investigators prove that gas lighting improves the air for breathing purposes by helping ventilation, destroying germs and adding necessary moisture.

Scientists also know that modern gas light is best for the eyes, because it is so soft, mellow, free from glare and harmful color rays.

The Bureau of Standards, at Washington, refers in detail to the economy and quality of gas mantle light in a report entitled "Measurements for the Household."

See the display of modern gas lights at any of our Philadelphia Showrooms.

THE ROOFS OF THE DAIRY LABORATORY AND BARN
ON THE ERLANGER FARMS OF THE NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL ARE COVERED WITH

AMBLER ASBESTOS SHINGLES

THE FIREPROOF, WEATHERPROOF, CURLPROOF,
EVERLASTING ROOFING MATERIAL

FOUR REASONS WHY THEY WERE USED

They Wear Forever

AMBLER ARTISTIC SHINGLES are fireproof, permanent, good looking and entirely free from upkeep expense.

They provide a roof and sidewalls that will practically last forever without repairing or patching—a roof that will never require paint and can never wear out.

They Are Fireproof

The fire protection that Ambler Asbestos Shingles give is one of the strong reasons for its growing popularity in the country and suburbs, where provisions for fighting fire are generally limited.

They Are Weatherproof

To construct a roof or sidewall that is weatherproof, will not admit rain or moisture, cannot burn or carry fire, and is not affected by sudden and violent changes of weather.

They Are Artistically Attractive

A roof that combines all these wonderful points of superiority with the possibility of unusual decorative treatment. Ambler Asbestos Shingle roofs are beautiful roofs, the lines are clean-cut and uniform, and they retain their original beauty without further attention.
